1. Thomas Stone was born in Virginia in 1803. "He came to Kentucky early in the last century and after living one year on the Big Sandy River, moved to Kinniconnick, near the mouth of the Laurel Fork. He was the father of a numerous family and most all the Stones in this part of Kentucky are descendants of his," [Ragon, p. 390].

His wife Elizabeth was born in 1806. Thomas Stone died in 1877 and his wife died in 1908. Their tombs are located in the Stone cemetery located on the same Stone Road as the house.

12. The original house is a double pen 1 1/2 story structure 22' 3" X 5'6" with two doors located on the west facade. An early 6 light window is under the gable end on the south elevation. Shiplap framed windows 1/1 are replacement windows on the first floor. An interior end hand made brick chimney is found on the southern end of the structure.

13. The northern eave of the original house is abutted into the two story addition which became the main house in the late 1850s. This addition was constructed by Thomas Perry Cooper two years before he was married. Thomas's mother was a Stone. The center hall single pile addition has 1/1 lights and a single light transom. Simply turned posts accent the wooden front porch.
